I hate that man worse than poison he offers to run away, when he should fight and lay about him.
I hate that man more than poison
should fight and lay about him.
should fight and lay about him.By the way, what becomes of the key that is not collected from those supposed gambling rooms and then grated?The Democratic gang sheet is again being about the spectacular gaming raid. Jud Findley is going to pull the poor sheet probably got it as mixed. It should wait until Jud is all of his men hired and arranged all the stage properties. If the sheet will keep its patience, it can have some of those fines on so-called gamblers the justices the peace are not allowed to impose or collect.The Telegram sympathizes deeply with Flunkie Flue in his predicament that huge pile of letters of praise has received. The situation is one that touches the heart strings of the stalled. They are they are piled, five million, three hundred and two thousand, nine hundred and fifty-seven massive of congratulation commendation; and every last one of them must be answered. It is pathetic to say the least.The Way It Works.
Comment was recently made in a department of the Telegram on the injurious effects of the operation of the new Democratic tariff law on American manufacturing establishments. Figures given out by the Department at Washington plainly showed that imports of articles man-ufactured abroad were increasing and that the output of American industries was being curtailed.First hand information regarding the manner in which European manufacturers are taking advantage of the lowering of the American tariff bars, is shown in an interview with E. H. Fort, a lawyer of Clander, Wyo., who has just returned to this country from England after a winter spent in London and in Paris. Mr.
Fort stayed at the Raleigh hotel in Washington on his way homeward and the following talk with him was published in a recent issue of the Washington Post.Recently Mr. Fort made a special trip to the woolen mills at Bradford.
He found, he said, immense plants, working full time and every available wheel turning. While there he was told that the new markets opened by the United States letting down the tariff bars offered a new field, with good prices for all they could produce, and insured steady employment for every machine all the year."Lines in which the English factories must compete with the American mills can be sold at a good profit when disposed of at a figure just below that at which the American manufacturer can afford to sell," said Mr. Fort. "The intention of the Englishmen is to shade the American manufacturers' price just enough to get the business, and with their cheap labor they are prepared to drive out all competition in many lines.""I have heard a great deal about the condition of foreign labor, but not until I went to Bradford did I fully appreciate the condition of the average American laborer by comparison. Workers in the Bradford mills think fresh meat once a week is affluence and the main article of diet consist of the cheaper vegetables and fish, mostly dried. If American workmen must come to the level of the average workmen I saw there, Heaven help us."An interesting sidelight is given this question by American Consul General Griffiths of London, who reports the number of unemployed workmen registered in that city as being the smallest ever recorded.
There were about four times as many such persons registered in London as unemployed in 1908-9.Growing Better.
Clarksburg goes forward every year. There are changes for the better every year. The city government devotes itself to better things every year.Last year there was general complaint about inadequate garbage hauling. The council made provision for improvement and next year, it is promised in the Republican platform, that steps will be taken to establish a city owned and city-managed garbage system. This is to be another step for the better.From year to year as the appropriations permitted city streets have been paved and the city now has a great amount of paved streets. It has not been many years since it had none. This shows advancement from year to year.Only within recent years has the city had an organized fire department and there has been improvement in that respect. It is the express intention to greatly improve that department in the coming year as the committee's report to the city council ready to be made shows.
That committee will recommend that there be one brick fire station for a fire engine, hose motor trucks, 2,000 feet of hose and other equipment, to be located in the central part of the city. It will recommend a brick house in the eastern end of the city for a wagon, two horses and 2,000
be located in the eastern end of the city for three men, and another hose house of the same kind and having similar equipment to be located in the western section of the city. The committee will also insist on a fifty-ton aerial truck to be stationed at the central fire station.The committee is to ask for sectional ladders and smoke helmets. Rope ladders will also be asked for. A much better working shift will also be sought. In fact, the committee will insist on all that goes to make up a proficient fire-fighting system.
These improvements and extensions of the fire department as everyone knows cannot be obtained until after the next annual budget is made up and the committee is to be commended for making due consideration before the budget-making period comes.The department is one constantly receiving high commendation from the higher courts and from the public. It is the news columns of newspapers show from time to time. But recently the judge of the criminal court, a Democrat, paid high tribute to the police department and only a few days ago, a government secret service man here from Washington did a similar act. These testimonials are honestly made and they are sincere expressions of appreciation of merit.The water and sewerage department is ideal and no better one is found in the state. It is being made better and more efficient every year and the credit for that is due to the board and its employees.The assessor's office is one of importance and the Republicans have nominated a man who is familiar with the values of Clarksburg property, a man of superior judgment and one who will bring his department up to higher efficiency, if possible.In view of all this, the adverse criticism heaped upon the city government now for purely politicalpurpose is as unjust as it is ridiculous, and it is passing strange that there is but little such criticism except during a campaign. Everyone appears satisfied all during the remainder of the year. The dissatisfaction comes only when it is deemed necessary to be that way for purely political reasons.

Indiana Democrats have recommended a state-wide primary law, at the request of President Wilson, though only a single member of the state committee favored the adoption of the plank. Indiana Democrats, how-they have become accustomed to it.— generous in dealing with Miss Eleanor as they were with Miss Jessie.—Hun-

No one class of people on the face of the earth engaged in business is going to profit from the Panama canal as will the coal producers of West Virginia.
It is up to them to have a creditable exhibit at the Panama exposition.
Having never heretofore posed as mendicants, is there any particular reason why they should do so now?
—Bluefield Telegraph.Not Room for Two.
There was another alleged Progressive gathering at Huntington Friday night. It was in the shape of a dollar dinner, and was presided over by Hon. Joseph Handlan, of Wheeling, former Democrat, and who has not lost much of his old time political style, according to general understanding. It assailed every thing done here by other members of the party Wednesday, launched ex-Governor Lawson from membership of the national executive committee of the party and cut up high jinks generally.
Well there is scarcely room for two Progressive parties in West Virginia.
—Parkersburg State Journal.Maybe So.
Well, well! Now we have the Progressive state committee of West Virginia ousting Hon. W. M. O. Dawson from membership in the national committee of the new party and recommending the selection of the Hon.
William Seymour Edwards, Republican national committeeman, to succeed him. And Mr. Edwards, so far as we can remember, has at no time stated his intention of retiring from the Republican committee. Indeed, he has time and again stated that he feels equal to holding a position on both committees.—Charleston Mail.Art.
The Clarksburg Telegram is devoting a good deal of space to the exponent, contemporary, the Exponent, and its new editor and cartoonist, who has come from Sistersville to tell the people how to run their town.
The Telegram objects to the new course of education and to the pictures in the Exponent. Bro. Morrison can scarcely be blamed for objecting to the Exponent's cartoons. Most any one would object. The only thing about them that has been worrying us is what they are about? One time two laymen visited an art gallery, and being unacquainted with art, one said to the other, after looking over the paintings and statues, "That may be fine art, all right but the trouble is there don't seem to be any sense to it." Whereupon the other replied: "That's what makes it art." So this may be applicable to the Exponent's cartoons. The rest of us may be laymen.—Grafton Sentinel.

The Easier Way

Is The

Co-operative

Way

There is no royal road to business success—but some ways are easier than others.Co-operative advertising between merchants and manufacturers in the newspapers that directly reach the buying public is the modern "Easier Way."When the manufacturer of a nationally distributed article puts his plea for business in the newspapers of this town he is making customers for your store as well as for himself. Mr.
Dealer.The more business he can send to the store the better off he is.
Conversely, every time the merchant treats a prospective customer pleasantly, shows the advertised article, and explains its merits, he is helping the manufacturer as well as himself.It's a fair game of push and pull.When manufacturer and merchant work together through the columns of the local newspapers they are moving to success along the "Easier Way."
